Nick Kotsakiachidis

Audio Engineer

Open Portfolio

Easy-going, analog world enthusiast and a recent graduate from the London College of Music. With extensive studio experience from both academic and freelance work, I built my own home songwriting studio where I have accommodated numerous artists and recorded my own songs. My work has garnered thousands of listeners on Spotify and even a radio play on iHeartRadio in the US. Multilingual professional fluent in English, Greek, and conversational German, bringing valuable communication skills to diverse teams and international projects.

Since starting my freelancing account on Fiverr in 2019, I have acquired many clients and maintained an average rating of 5 stars. I am open for interviews at any time and am seeking positions such as a runner or assistant audio engineer in studios.
